For the time being, we are still involved in 101. At this stage, partners will try to consider the variability of their audience so that individuals using the course anywhere in the world can take advantage of upskilling and turnings to policy changes and the realization of more inclusive societies.

This phase is divided into two steps: 1) the 'theoretical' content, where partners create modules that cover the necessary methodology and instructional approaches for the target group participation; 2) the 'digital' content, which will turn these modules into a digital platform and a mobile application for virtual learning.

WHAT HAS BEEN DONE?

Firstly, each partner made a national research regarding the current situation of people with disabilities in their countries (policies, best practices, etc).

Secondly, the results were compared, and the main challenges for an inclusive society were concluded. These conclusions were used to define the 7 modules of the "Awareness and Capacity Building ACCESS4All Courses". The modules deal with the following subjects:

- 2.Disability and accessibility in labor, cultural life, sports, education, transportation, health, ICT.
- 3. Principles of Accessible Municipalities; sustainability and disability.
- 4. Evaluating & monitoring local policy schemes on disability
- 5. Media Exploitation for raising awareness about disabilities at local level and cultivating positive attitudes.
